

ABSTRACT

A geometric reconfiguration assembly for the natural heart having a collar configured for surrounding the natural heart. The collar can include a plurality of supports configured for positioning on the epicardial surface of the heart. Supports can be joined with connectors that 5 can permit or provide slight deformation of the assembly. An external shell or skin portion can be provided around the supports an/or connectors.